Togetherness

Editor:

Something to think about:

Many times this writer thinks of the fellowship of past years during the Lenten season when the churches worshipped together. There was one year, about 1950, when on Good Friday it was my privilege to speak in Waymart, Carbondale, Forest City and Pleasant Mount, and that was two too many. Two words were enough in a day.

Such services seem to be a thing of the past. Some churches within their own denomination may have similar services but where is the denominational effort? Is it because of leadership, lack of promotion, interest on the part of individual members of the various churches? Or is it a lack of interest and concern for the things of God?
